10am-12:noon

Showers Plaza

Emergency Preparedness Event for Families

Saturday, September 20

2pm-5pm

Monroe County Public Library - Room #1C

Attendees will learn how to better prepare themselves for a crisis. Among other valuable information, participants will learn how to be ready to handle their families' personal needs during the first few days after a natural or man-made disaster, how to create and maintain a disaster kit and a first aid kit, how to administer basic first aid and how to establish an emergency plan. After the event, participants may find themselves in a position to offer help, rather than ask for it, during a time of crisis.

Red Cross Book Fair

October 2-4

Monroe County Fair Grounds

Latinos in Bloomington

Monday, October 14, 2014

4pm-5pm

City Hall Council Chambers

What it is like to live in Bloomington through a Latino/Hispanic perspective? In Honor of National Hispanic Heritage Month The City of Bloomington's Latino Programs and Outreach Division and Indiana University's Latino Cultural Center will present a panel discussion on Latinos/Hispanics living in Bloomington. This event will include a panel of guests whom all live in Bloomington and are of Latino/Hispanic decent. The audience will be encouraged to ask questions as the diverse panel talks about their experiences

IU Homecoming Weekend
